

Video Relay interpreters should be of the highest caliber and skill, due to the various skill levels of the people they communicate with and for. I have been very impressed with the quality and professionalism of the interpreters I have used so far. Why would anyone want to put deaf people at an even further disadvantage by not having certified (RID or NAD IV/V) interpreters. Do the right thing. Use common sense and keep standards high